I started off in the wide world of web as a Content Manager of a corporate website about 10 years ago, continued as a founder and product manager of a web startup project, and in the process grew fond of UX design and web development which I chose to be my profession.

For the last 7 years I have been exploring what works and doesn't work in web and UX design, learning the secrets and value of a good user experience. I enjoy making complex workflows simple, seamless, and pleasant. I strive to deliver well thought out designs, accompanied by clean, valid, reusable code.

I graduated from University of Zagreb, Faculty of Science (Prirodoslovno-matematički fakultet, Zagreb) on June 1999
